Dr. Chris Swinford

Dean of International Studies

12/20/06

Dear Brethren,

We are excited about the possibilities of Jeremy and Oxana Desjarlais moving to Sydney, Australia, to work with the Macquarie School of Biblical Studies. With his education, evangelistic spirit and willingness to teach and mentor students, he is ideally suited to serve as the Dean of Students in our school, to serve as a liaison with church members and congregations, and to teach classes in areas he has studied in-depth. We anticipate that our Australian work will be greatly enhanced by the addition of this wonderful brother in Christ.

Our partnership with Macquarie includes a focus on seeking and saving the lost, planting healthy congregations, strengthening existing congregations, and training preachers, teachers and church leaders. Dwight Whitsett, our Regional Dean of Ministry Training for Oceania and I feel that Jeremy is a key ingredient to achieving these goals.

We recommend Jeremy Desjarlais to you as one worthy of support, and we will be faithful in encouraging him to be responsive to you and to keep you well informed as to his duties and work assignments. Those of us at SIBI commit to you to be responsive and to assist you in any way possible as we all seek to evangelize the world together.

If I can be of personal service to you, please do not hesitate to ask.

In Him,
